

SHIRLEY LE PENNE

Graduate Student in Political Science

School of Political Science, Government and International Affairs, Tel Aviv University

shirleylepenne@gmail.com; leponne@mail.tau.ac.il

PERSONAL DETAILS

Date of Birth: April 4, 1991

Country of Birth: Marseille, France

Languages: French (mother tongue), English (mother tongue level), Hebrew (mother tongue level), Spanish (working proficiency), literary Arabic (working proficiency)

EDUCATION

Sciences Po Paris, September 2018-present

Exchange Program for MA students, Political Science, specialization in Political Theory

Tel Aviv University, 2016-present

MA, Political Science, specialization in Political Theory and International Relations [GPA 93]

Tel Aviv University, 2013-2016

BA, Political Science and Middle Eastern and African History [GPA 88]

Paul Cézanne University, Aix-en-Provence, 2008-2009

First year of BA, Law and Political Science

ACADEMIC POSITIONS

Research Assistant for Dr. Uriel Abulof, 2016-present

- HOPE: Human Odyssey to Political Existentialism (EdX online course), Princeton University & Tel-Aviv University
- Abyss & Horizon: Humanity's Midlife Crisis
- The Moral Language of the Arab Spring

Research Assistant for Prof. Eyal Chowers, May 2018-present

- The Israeli Military Courts in the Occupied Territories

Teaching Assistant, Tel Aviv University, 2017-present

- HOPE: Human Odyssey to Political Existentialism, Dr. Uriel Abulof
- Introduction to International Relations and Strategy, Dr. Uriel Abulof
- Policy – Analysis and Practice, Dr. Evgeni Klauber
- Contemporary Political Thought, Dr. Golan Lahat

The Public Sphere 2017-present

Member of the editorial board of the Department of Political Science Journal at Tel Aviv University

Institute for National Security Studies (INSS), 2016-2017

Internship in the program of Terrorism and Low Intensity Conflicts

PUBLICATIONS

Shirley Le Penne (2017). Longing to Belong: Needing to Be Needed in a World in Need. Society 54(6).

SCHOLARSHIP AND HONORS

Second Best Paper Award – 14th International Graduate Conference in Political Science, International Relations, and Public Policy, December 2018, Hebrew University of Jerusalem

Sciences Po-Tel Aviv University Scholarship

Keren Heseg Scholarship

The Sean Carmeli Scholarship

Baccalauréat with honors in the Social and Economic Sciences section, 2005-2008, Marseille, France

PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

Dado Research Institute, 2017

Center for Interdisciplinary Military Studies

I24news, 2016-2017

Journalist

EXTRACURRICULAR ACTIVITIES

Sciences Po pour les Nations Unies

Aims at promoting the UN and their values at Sciences Po Paris, through MUNs activities (trainings and delegations based on the UN model), and meeting diplomacy specialists.

Sapientism

Writing contents in a philosophical blog.

Yala Citizen Journalism, 2016

A ground-breaking peace studies program that aims to supply young leaders of the Middle East & North Africa (MENA) region with the necessary tools to create a future of self-sustaining and durable peace.

Wahad al Ehad, 2013-2016

Promotes dialogue between Palestinians, Israeli Arabs, Muslims, Christians and Jewish students to create a sphere in which everybody can express her/his political views and be exposed to a vast span of opinions.

Israel Peace Initiative Project, 2016

Translation of political journal sources from English to French.

FORTHCOMING

14th International Graduate Conference in Political Science, International Relations, and Public Policy, December 2018, Hebrew University of Jerusalem.

77th Annual MPSA (Midwest Political Science Association) Conference, April 2019, Chicago.